Current Responsibilities:

Jillian Slyfield serves as Aon's Digital Economy Practice Leader. In this role, she addresses digital disruption of traditional industries and the on-demand economy. Her focus areas are Mobility as a Service, The Future of Work and New Economy Digital Risk.

Within Mobility as a Service, Jillian's focus is to address the evolving and bespoke risk challenges of rideshare, carshare, subscription lease, platform-enabled delivery, autonomous vehicles, and micromobility.

Workers are increasingly assuming roles as independent contractors rather than employees. This global shift in work patterns upsets the traditional employee-employer relationship and has created an opportunity to address the needs of the commercial entity, and the worker, in new and innovative ways. Jillian addresses those needs through our Future of Work initiative.

Whether our clients have been in business for a half a century and are pivoting their business models through digital capabilities, or they are born of the New Economy, Jillian is poised to bring the full breadth of the firm in pursuit of new insurance solutions for our clients. Innovation, a sense of urgency, and our global Aon platform are hallmarks of her Digital Economy Practice.

Through this Practice, Jillian ensures Aon's market leadership, technology platforms and deep analytics capabilities are harnessed for our clients.

Special Areas of Expertise:

Prior to joining Aon in 2015, Jillian worked for national multi-risk insurance companies. During this time, Jillian worked with risk issues affecting various industries while serving in claims, underwriting and regional leadership roles. In 2002, Jillian advanced to an international brokerage firm and has established herself as a thought leader to mid-size and global organizations. She is a proficient insurance technician while bringing the resources of Aon to bear for her clients. Jillian's unique skill set allows her to nurture client relationships and deliver complex solutions in a meaningful way to create value for her clients.

Jillian is engaged regularly as a public speaker on topics such as insurtech, mobility as a service, and the future of work.
